Shell scheme cladding with Fabriclad (printed fabric) panels

CLIENT Triton Submarines LLC

EVENT The Monaco Yacht Show

STAND Standard 6m x 3m shell scheme

USPs One graphic per wall, so no joins

Graphics fold up and pack into a small case on wheels

Graphics reusable many times over

Graphics die-sublimation printed on fabric for super-long durability

PRINTED FABRIC GRAPHICS

The graphics for this stand are attached to the shell scheme using Shell-Clad clips, ie the shell scheme itself is the frame.

In this example, ie a 6m x 3m corner stand, the clips will have taken perhaps ten minutes to fit (one person).

Two printed fabric graphics, one for the 6m wall and one for the 3m wall (an option could have been 2 x 3m on 6m wall if preferred)

Graphics and Shell-Clad clips pack into a convenient carry case on wheels - literally an exhibition in a bag!

These panels will have taken one person between 30 and 45 minutes to hang (depending on experience). As you can see, a flat, wrinkle-free display is easily achievable.

These graphics had previously been used at the Singapore Yacht Show and will be used at further shows.

Advantages of Fabriclad (printed fabric)

- Extremely durable. Our showroom panels have survived well over 200 demos
- Very easy to install. One panel per wall does away with the need to align individual panels
- Internal corners, external corners, diagonal corners and stores all accommodated
- Far easier to hang than rigid (foamex / foamboard) panels
- No tools required for installation, just a short ladder
- Graphics are machine washable should you spill / splash something on them
- After use panels pack away in a case and can be stored in a cupboard / under a worktop etc.
- No van for transporting graphics, no dedicated storage area, one person to carry, one person to install

Fabriclad panels can be hung on a PromoWalls (see separate card) if customers want a free standing display option.
